

FileGenius for Other Industries

FileGenius is revolutionizing the way companies and organizations of all kinds are handling files and collaborating internally with clients and external resources. It's the secure, easy-to-use, professional file transfer and sharing solution for so many industries, including education, event planning, food services, government, healthcare, insurance, manufacturing, music, multimedia, non-profit, photography, publishing, real estate, human resources, retail, technology services, and others.

- A Texas-based contract injection molder uses FileGenius to quickly and securely exchange drawings and specifications with their customers.
- A Boston-based investment management firm securely stores and manages client files and information on their site.
- A large trade association headquartered in Atlanta uses FileGenius to store membership records and organize trade show and conference information.
- A charter school association in California, with multiple offices, stores and organizes their administrative and departmental files on their FileGenius site allowing them to function as one office.
- A large textiles manufacturer in Georgia has replaced all of their FTP servers with FileGenius, meeting all of their file transfer and remote storage needs.
- A dealer for heavy construction equipment in North Carolina stores their sales literature on their site, allowing their sales people and customers to retrieve sales information 24/7 with only Internet access.
- A catalog production company stores and organizes the images and copy for all of the items that appear in clients catalogs and exchanges and manages these with vendors, photographers, and freelance designers.
- A big-box appliance distributor located in the U.S. uses their site to transfer and share specifications and orders with their manufacturers based in China and Korea.
- The Human Resources department of a large marketing consulting firm uses FileGenius to store personnel records and resumes, and to make it easy to retrieve pertinent documents when working with job candidates.
- A large retailer based in New York stores and organizes all of their buyers' data about new and seasonal lines and products, making it all available to buyers all over the globe with nothing but an internet connection.
- A nonprofit organization based in London uses FileGenius to coordinate worldwide activities and make important data available to their offices located in 31 different countries.
- A worldwide manufacturer of mining supplies, based in Australia, coordinates worldwide sales actives using multiple FileGenius sites.